Defendants.

CASE NO. C17-1138-JCC

ORDER

This matter comes before the Court on the Government's status report (Dkt. No. 19). The Court previously stayed all proceedings in this civil forfeiture case because the Government was

1 prosecuting a related criminal case before the Court. See United States of America v. Alexandra
2 Shelburne, et al., CR17-0203-JCC, Dkt. No. 1 (W.D. Wash. 2017). The Court concluded that the 3 civil and criminal cases were sufficiently related and that civil discovery would adversely affect
4 the Government's ability to investigate and prosecute the criminal case. (Dkt. No. 15 at 3) (citing
5 18 U.S.C. § 981(g)(1)). The Court granted a stay for six months and ordered the Government to 6 file a status report regarding the criminal case. (Id.) On April 27, 2018, the Court extended the 7 stay for an additional six months because the criminal case was ongoing. (Dkt. No. 18.)

8 In its status report, the Government notes that while some of the Defendants have pled
9 guilty and been sentenced, charges are still pending against some Defendants. (Dkt. No. 19 at 2.)
10 The Government is continuing to prosecute defendants who may claim ownership to the 11 properties at issue in this civil forfeiture action. (Id. at 4.) Therefore, the Government asks the 12 Court to continue the current stay for an additional six months. (Id.)

13 The Court concludes that it is appropriate to continue its stay of proceedings. The 14 Government continues to investigate and prosecute the related criminal case. The Government
15 seeks forfeiture of some of the same assets named in this civil forfeiture action. Shelburne, et al.,
16 CR17-0203-JCC, Dkt. No. 48 at 15–17; (Dkt. No. 1 at 55–59.) The Court finds that allowing 17 civil discovery in this case would adversely affect the government's ongoing investigation and 18 prosecution in the criminal case. 18 U.S.C. § 981(g)(1).

19 All proceedings in this matter remain STAYED until the related criminal case, United 20 States v. Shelburne, et al., CR17-0203-JCC, is resolved, either through a verdict or guilty pleas.
21 The United States shall file a status report no later than six months from the date of this order.

22 DATED this 30th day of October 2018.
